Foreword

JOYCE SCOTT
Editor-in-Chief

Better Mac Brown

Dear Readers,

We, the Class of 1963, leave behind in this volume of the WILDCAT -- "The Challenge of Change" -- the wonderful moments that will be but a memory to us in later years. We hope that this book will well serve its purpose. Problems resulting from change in the future will be difficult, but if glancing through this book will lighten our burdens--if only momentarily--we will consider this book worth while.

As we complete our high school education, we realize that the years ahead will be years of transition. We will have to face the future ourselves; no longer will we be a part of the sheltered, the planned way of life. We are fascinated by the challenge that is ours, for we have been influenced by our educational environment. Therefore, we leave with the insight to think and use our abilities to solve problems that we will have as we follow the fascinating new roads of a limitless America.

The publication of this book has required the support of many persons. In closing, we wish to express our appreciation to all persons who helped to make our efforts materialize.

Sincerely yours,

Joyce Scott

In Memoriam

To Thee, who hath tread many paths, shared in many sorrows, and rejoiced in many triumphs. . . . To Thee, who with us did encounter many things. . . . To Thee, Dear Friend and faithful member, we say, . . .

TO EVERY THORN, THERE IS A ROSE, AND FOR THEE, JAMES, THE THORN OF YOUR DEPARTURE WAS SHATTERED BY THE ROSE OF OUR MEMORIES.

JAMES HERNDON

To him, who in the love of Nature holds. . . .

Dedication

MRS. CORNELIA C. CAMPBELL

We the class of 1963 respectfully dedicate this edition of the WILDCAT to you, Mrs. Cornelia C. Campbell, in recognition of your untiring efforts, your patience in guiding us through difficult situations, and your loyalty and sincerity to all.

The Class of 1963

Administration . . .

MR. OWEN J. DUNCAN
JR., PRINCIPAL AND
MRS. MARY C. HUBBARD,
SECRETARY

Principal's Message

To The Class of 1963:

For the past five years you have been engaged in a process which has been largely a process of making changes. Many of these changes have been almost automatic because of your youth, a period in life when bodily structure, habits, store of knowledge, and mind set were not so rigidly fixed. This made changes in all of these areas relatively easy.

However, your life pattern is more definitely fixed now, and changes will be more difficult. But changes are necessary for progress; even at times for survival. Your continued progress in life, therefore, will depend largely on your ability to make the necessary changes and adjustments to meet the new challenges of life.

Owen J. Duncan, Jr., Principal

Miss Pannell and Mrs. Duncan, the librarian for Central Elementary School, discuss plans for the Book Fair given annually by the Library Club.

They are Vital to Our Education.

Cafeteria Staff Bus Drivers and Custodians

Mrs. Farmer and Mr. Elliott

Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Johnson

Suppose we were to be without transportation and food or come to school to find the building just the way we left it the day before. The bus drivers, custodians, and the Cafeteria staff make the atmosphere and conditions of the school conducive for learning. What would we do without them?

We were too early to find all the bus drivers, so we just took Mr. Coleman's picture.

Mrs. Frances Johnson, Cafeteria Manager.

English . . . . Our Medium of Communication. . . .

We really Gave him Hell

MRS. CAROL BOONE
B.A., Virginia State
College.

MRS. MARY GLENN
B.A., Shaw University.

MR. DONALD PEERY
B.A., Kentucky State
College.

He almost Gave a million days for the way he did

English

Students discuss bulletin board display in Mrs. Jones' class.

Mrs. Glenn points out mistake to Gloria Hubbard.

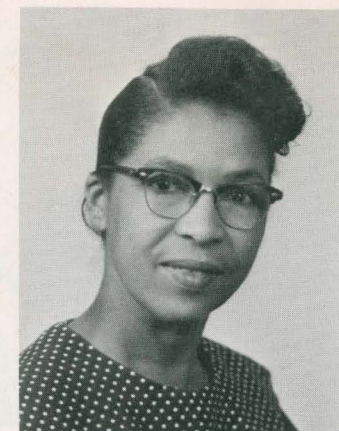

Mrs. Williams explains sentences to her second period class.

A knowledge of oral and written English is evidence of a sound education. In our English classes the communicative skills, reading, writing, speaking, and listening, are emphasized. Through literature we gain an understanding of the development of the language from very early times and develop an appreciation for the beauty of the language.

Exploring the Beauty of Another Language.

MRS. GERTRUDE
WILLIAMSON
B.S., Virginia State
College.

French

Instruction in French is improved by modern equipment.

Studying a foreign language is often fascinating. Juniors and seniors have an opportunity to explore French for two years. With increased emphasis on foreign languages in today's schools and colleges, it is recommended that college preparatory students take two years of French.

A study of French gives us a chance to compare English with a foreign language. It's surprising to learn that many of the words we use each day come from the French language. Both languages have a lot in common.

Sometimes it is better to see it.

Experimentation and Analysis Lead us to Solutions.

Students prove into the world of science through courses in chemistry, biology, physics, and general science. Realizing the demands of the Space-Age, students are eager to become successful in science.

MR. FRANK BRADSHER
B.S., North Carolina
College.

MR. CHESLEIGN
FRANKLIN
A.B., Virginia Union University.

MR. ARTHUR HOLMES
B.S., Virginia State
College.

Science

Amused in Mr. Holmes' Physic Class? I wonder!

Mr. Franklin marvels at their new interest in Science.

Why is Mr. Bradsher's Chemistry Class so interested in the experiment?

" Mathematics is the Gate and Key of the Sciences."

MRS. MARTHA ASKEW
B.S., North Carolina College.

MRS. CORNELIA CAMPBELL
B.S., Texas Southern University.

MRS. ALMA WILLIAMS
B.S., Virginia State College.

Mathematics

Mathematics teaches us to think.

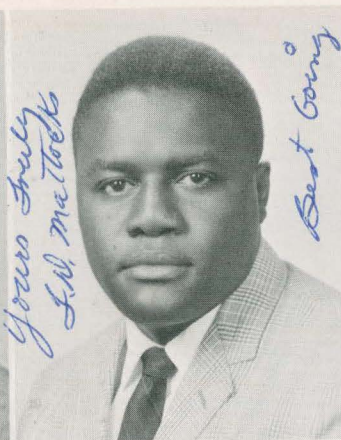

The true importance of mathematics in a scientific world is emphasized at C.C.H.S. Students are given the opportunity to take courses in basic mathematics, algebra, and plane geometry. After the completion of these courses, trigonometry and solid geometry may be taken as a further preparation for students who are planning to go into the field of math.

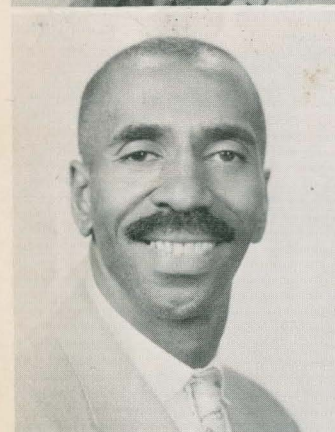

Calvin Fore solves trigonometry problem. Do you understand it?

World Problems - Past and Present . . . .

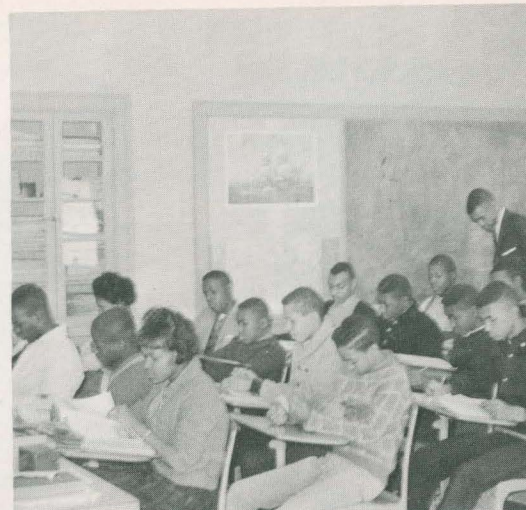

MRS. ELEANOR
FERGUSON
B. A., Virginia State;
B. S., Virginia Seminary.

MR. HARRY ROYAL
B. S., Bluefield State
College.

MR. THOMAS MATTOCKS
B. A., Johnson C. Smith;
M. A., North Carolina
College.

Mr. Matthews' Geography Class is hard at work.

Social Studies

A knowledge of world problems--past and present is essential to our contribution to the future development of our country. As young citizens, we feel that there are many problems we must meet in the future, and our understanding of them to some extent will result from our having been exposed to previous problems through the social sciences.

16 Mrs. Ferguson gets an important point over to Earnest Jones.

Mr. Mattocks' Class prepares for Negro History Week.

Knowledge Through Actual Experience.

We learn in Home Economics through actual experience. Cooking and Serving are not all....
Effective home management is stressed, too.

Home Economics

MRS. DOROTHY STONE
B. S., Virginia State
College.

MRS. LOIS WALKER
B. S., Virginia State
College.

Mrs. Walker explains "The Basic Four"
to Maxine Tweedy, Johnnie Taylor,
Linda Payne, and Marcia Hill.

The class is learning to thread the machines. Mrs. Stone aids Helen Atkinson who has run into some difficulty.

Today's Students . . . Tomorrow's Business Leaders.

Mrs. Jones' Class is very busy or it seems.

Hop, Hop, Sticker

MRS. FLOSSIE JONES
B.S., Virginia State College.

Business

Students in the commercial department develop their skills to compete in the world of business as bookkeepers, secretaries, and typists. Our department offers courses in shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, economics and law, general business, and consumers' mathematics.

MRS. ADDIE DOUGLAS
B.S., Hampton Institute.

Mrs. Douglas watches attentively as Alice Brown and John Claytor race with time.

Learning to Make Things That Fill a Need.

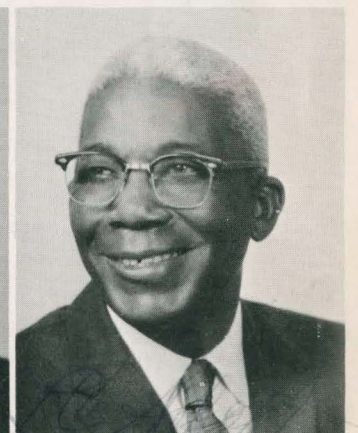

Mr. Davis' class starts on something tall.

Industrial Arts

The industrial arts training gives the pupil a background that will help him fit into the world of work, which is the basis of our industrial society. The industrial arts work provides means for the pupil to experiment with tools, materials, and equipments of various kinds. He learns how to handle these tools and how to make things that fill a need or satisfy a creative desire.

MR. JOHN DAVIS
B.S., A.&T. College.

MR. L. ABBOTT
B.S., West Virginia State; M. Ed., University of Illinois.

We see the making of a chimney and that's not all.

Agriculture . . . . Increased Mechanization. . . .

The Boys who take Agriculture are guided carefully by Mr. Mayfield.

Agriculture

The demand for agriculture education has been associated with demands for farm products by the increasing proportion of the total population engaged in non-farming occupations. Therefore, farmers were challenged to produce more total products and to obtain increased yields per acre. Realizing the dual challenge, students are taught that the necessity of producing more products for each farm worker requires increased mechanization and production efficiencies.

As you can see, a course in Agriculture is not all plowing and sowing. There's a little brain work, too.

Imagination Produces Art . . . .

Art

Art I Students work with wood under the supervision of Mr. Murray.

The human activity which produces art is imagination. It is through imagination that the artist reacts to the external world by expressing his own feeling. Words, forms, colors, and sounds are created by imagination. Using their imagination, C.C.H.S. art students create new forms to express their feelings.

MR. JAMES MURRAY
B.A., Virginia State College.

Puzzled!! Yes, they are working with wood, too.

The Physical Education Program is Keyed to Meet the Needs of Students.

MRS. GERALDINE CLARK
B.S., West Virginia State
College.

Some minds are astray from health today.

We have not walked 50 miles, but we are interested in physical fitness. Our physical education department aids us in developing strong, healthy bodies by offering physical activities and health instruction.

Physical Education

That's some vigorous exercise they're doing. Don't you agree?

MISS CATHERINE GREENE
B.S., North Carolina College.

Music . . . . It's Everywhere . . . .

Music

MISS ZEMORA CAGE
B.A., Paul Quinn College.

The band and chorus provide activity, training, and experience for those students who find enjoyment in music--the international language. Our band and chorus have worked hard this year to prepare for concerts and music festivals. Students will always remember that splendid concert given by the band and chorus during assembly. Both organizations received excellent ratings at District Musical Festivals.

Vivian Yuille, member of C.C.H.S.
chorus participates in the culture program,
"These Talented Children."

Campbell County's Band rated high in the band festival, but what did you expect?

Under Mr. Matthews' direction the band plays beautifully.

A Record of This Year . . . .

Preparing this yearbook has been one of the most difficult and time consuming jobs in school. However, the determination to produce a yearbook to record the events of this glorious year was far greater than the problems confronting the staff. Many times the staff was without sufficient pictures or copy to prepare the mats. Not enough money was also an unwelcomed obstacle to this year's staff. Nevertheless, with patience, tolerance, and guidance by its advisers, the staff was able to produce this book.

Oulds; Coach, Clyde Clack; Assistant Coach, Albert Moore.

Football

The 1962 Wildcats under the guidance of Coach Clack emerged with a 8-1 record. The team led by Captains Bruce Oulds and Edward Cruise was instilled with the fight and spirit conspicuous of Campbell's teams.

Facing tougher teams this year than in previous years, the Wildcats finished the season with a first place tie in Group I Western District competition. The success of the team was due to team and individual effort and the desire to win.

Activities

School life is not all classroom work. There is a lighter side when we are not studying but enjoying various activities. Many of our unforgettable memories of high school will be our activities... homecoming... the class play... assembly programs... and that first prom.

Activities Bring Fun and Fellowship . . . .

Whether it's a I Act affair. . .

We went out of this world "May Night" or at least we tried.

First Infantry? No, but just as good. . . .

Or the Senior Class play. . . we enjoy acting.

Mr. Abbott is boosting our spirit or maybe it's the boys.

An activity? Well, we're not sure yet. Maybe after we eat. . . .

Unforgettable Memories of High School . . . .

In October, 1962, the Senior Class journeyed to Virginia State College.

The biggest attraction of the day was the Trojans' Homecoming Game.

Many books changed hands at the book fair held at Campbell this year.

Studying at Activities Period! Well, some of us do.

Seniors - Historically Speaking

Time certainly passes! It seems like it was only yesterday that we were saying hello to Campbell County High. In September, 1958, 142 students enrolled as subfreshmen. Some of those students were to be members of the graduating class of 1963 whose history we are to record here.

During the first weeks of school we were overwhelmed with joy with the exception of a little uneasiness due to the new environment. Our homeroom teachers, Mrs. Artis, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Pinn, and Mrs. Walker helped us to adapt ourselves into the pattern of high school life.

The important event of our first year was presenting the annual talent show.

The first year could not last always, so before we knew it we were Freshmen. By this time we had begun to realize that high scholastic standards were important, but we should not hesitate to join extracurricular activities. Members of the class became interested in sports, dramatics, art, and the Science Club. During this year we were very happy to have Thomas Cardwell, Calvin Fore, and John Claytor participate in, and win very high ratings at the District Science and Mathematics Conference. The class athletes were John Woodruff, Dwight Jones, Christopher Scott, Leon Watts, Paul Scott, Terrance Burrell, Bruce Oulds, and George Scott.

Having completed two successful years at Campbell, we continued to push forward through the 1960-1961 session. Our athletes of the previous year continued to be active in sports. John Claytor, Rosa Gilbert, Thomas Cardwell, and Calvin Fore participated in the District Science and Mathematics Conference and received certificates or honorable mention. Some of our athletes were awarded letters in the various sports. This year we had many classmates to participate in the oratorical contest. Ella Pannell won first place, and Joyce Scott won third.

Time has faded on and we were now just one step within the shadow of our destination. We were now more determined than ever to proceed. The most conspicuous event of our junior year was the advent of our Junior-Senior Prom. We chose as our theme "Surfside 62." Those junior days were really the highlights of the first four years of high school.

Every road has an end, so does one's high school days. We returned to C. C. H. S. in the fall of 1962 ready to approach that point. Many of the classmates by this time had joined with the withdrawals. But those who were still in the parade realized early that there was much to be done before we departed in June. We started to work with the assistance of our sponsors, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Boone. The publishing of this book and other activities have helped to pack this final year full of unforgettable events. We were delighted in October to visit Virginia State College for "Senior Day." Our class play, "Good Night Ladies", was presented in November. In March we were teachers for a day when each Senior participated in "Senior Day" at C. C. H. S.

As we close the chapter of the history of this year's graduating class, we can say, "The road was rough and rugged and sometimes hard to trod, but we knew the solution to that one problem; we kept our faith in God."

*Claire Callaway
Sylvia Henry*

and beyond!

Bright, new horizons await today's students . . . new technologies . . . new medicines . . . even the moon and whatever lies beyond.

How far today's students go in this space age depends partly on their imagination but primarily on their training. Conquering new horizons will demand more of today's graduates—more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our Free Enterprise system, with its high living standards, gives everyone an opportunity to "shoot for the moon" in any field. Whether or not our target is reached depends on how well trained we are to launch ourselves.
